

SPRING 2020 ONLINE WRITING COURSES

Workshop Experience Level Guide

- BEG Beginner. These courses are open to all students, but are geared specifically towards new writers. If you are just getting started with a particular genre, this is the place you should start!
- INT Intermediate. These courses are for students with previous writing experience, along with some degree of familiarity with writing workshops.
- ALL All. Course content is geared to be useful to writers of all experience levels and, frequently, all genres. Beginners are welcome, but experienced writers will also find these courses engaging.
- PRO DWC PRO. These courses are geared towards very experienced writers. Space is limited for those not enrolled in DWC PRO; a manuscript review may be required.

POETRY COURSES

INT Revised and Ready with Georgia Popoff. Thursdays, 6:00–8:00. 8 weeks, starting April 30. What to do with all those drafts? Where do I send them? Burning questions for all poets. This class will focus on prepping work for publication, employing revision strategies and “beta-test” workshopping.

ALL Poetry in the Round with Gloria Heffernan. Wednesdays, 10:30–12:30. 8 weeks, starting April 29. This class offers critique workshopping, along with in-class prompts, examples of work by noted poets, and lively discussion of the craft. Learn to hone a keen edge to your work!

PRO Rhyme and Its Reasons with Anne Marie Thompson. Tuesdays, 6:00–7:30. 8 weeks, starting April 28. In this course, we’ll discuss how various types of rhyme—true rhyme, slant rhyme, identity rhyme, and pararhyme—can reveal and create meaning, for both writer and reader.

ALL Writing Form Poems with Gemma Cooper-Novack. Wednesdays, 6:00–8:00. 8 weeks, starting April 29. Want to practice pantoums? Learn to vary your villanelles? Experiment with ekphrastics? This class will explore a wide range of poetic forms as we read historical and contemporary examples, and practice making them our own.

PRO DWC PRO Poetry Workshop with Philip Memmer. Wednesdays, 6:00–8:30. 8 weeks, starting April 22. This workshop is for experienced poets whose goal is publication, focused on strong peer critique. Limited space is available for DWC PRO graduates and other advanced poetry students. Call 474-6851 x380 for details.

FICTION COURSES

BEG The Writer’s Life II with Chris DelGuercio. Wednesdays, 6:30–8:30. 8 weeks, starting April 29. Every writer needs to “tend their garden.” This next phase of The Writer’s Life series teaches how to recognize possible missteps, offering quick, effective problem-solving options while focusing on compelling narrative, a must for future storytellers! (Required text: Self-Editing for Fiction Writers, Rennie Browne & Dave King).

INT The Writers Life III with Chris DelGuercio. Tuesdays, 6:30–8:30. 8 weeks, starting April 28. This course introduces the peer critique workshop process. The exchange of constructive feedback is an essential element of revising one’s work. With careful guidance, participants will develop the skills and language necessary to take work to new and surprising levels.

PRO PRO Prose Workshop with Jason Zencka. Wednesdays, 6:00–8:30. 8 weeks, starting April 29. MORE SPRING ONLINE WRITING COURSES

BEG Intro to Creative Nonfiction with Linda Lowen. Mondays, 3:00-5:00. 8 weeks, starting April 27. This class is for the person with a story to tell, be it your own, a family saga, a world event or memorable journey, and those who need to know how to get started. You will learn fundamental elements of CNF as you get your story on paper.

ALL Exploring the Hermit Crab Essay with Linda Lowen. Mondays, 6:00-8:00. 8 weeks, starting April 27. Tell your story through unexpected structures: recipes, receipts, prescription labels and more. This experimental form takes its name from the hermit crab: born without a hard exterior, compelled to find a shell to survive. A creative approach that's challenging, freeing, and fun. Required text: The Shell Game: Writers with Borrowed Forms, Kim Adrian, ed.

INT After Inspiration with Nancy Keefe Rhodes Tuesdays, 6:00-8:00. 8 weeks, starting April 28. What is helpful critique and what is useful revision? When are you done? These burning questions form the foundation of this weekly workshop for essayists and prose writers.

DRAMATIC WRITING

ALL The Dramatic Monologue with Christopher Carter Sanderson. Thursdays, 6:00-8:00. 8 weeks, starting April 30. Explore the dramatic monologue as an independent form, part of a larger play or poem for stage, film, or spoken word performance. Write, workshop, and revise dramatic monologues with attention to voice and technique.

CROSS-GENRE

ALL Writing from the Other I with Mary Hutchins Harris. Mondays, 6:00-8:00. 8 weeks, starting April 27. Persona poems and flash fiction allow us to see through someone else's eyes... and telling that story (often our own story, but with a new perspective) gives us insight into ourselves and can round out our own writing.

NOTES ON THIS SEASON'S PROGRAMS

Dear Members and Friends,

Thanks for joining us on a little adventure... something perhaps we could all use right now! This is our first attempt at offering online workshops for the DWC, and we're glad you're along for the ride.

A few important notes:

- All workshops listed in this brochure are happening online, NOT at the YMCA. We will be using Zoom.com.
- Y members making use of their "free DWC workshop" member benefit must retain their membership throughout the course. If you cancel during the course, you will be charged a prorated fee based on the non-member tuition rate, and the number of weeks remaining.
- While the Y is closed, our staff is working from home, with very limited hours. Please be patient with us.
- In order to expedite reservations, we are encouraging Y members to register online, and asking non-members to register by phone. Leave our Workshops Coordinator a message at 315-474-6851 x380... we will return your call, and register you by phone with a credit card.
- If you must use a check to pay for your course, you may... but please also email Georgia Popoff at dwcworkshops@ymcacny.org first.
